

FATHER TAKES HIS OWN SON TO JAIL

Hugh Hale Charges Fourteen-Year-Old Boy With Stealing Auto, but Police Refuse to Listen.

Hugh W. Hale, Northwestern yardmaster, brought his 14-year-old son, Jack, to central police station Thursday night and charged him with stealing his automobile.

He led Jack by the arm before the desk captain.

"Here he is, officer," he said. "He took my auto."

"What's your name?" asked the officer of the alleged young culprit.

"Jack Hale," answered the boy.

"And yours?" addressing the accuser.

"Hugh Hale. I'm his father," came the answer.

The affair was referred to Captain Dempsey. The alleged theft developed to be an incident in a domestic squabble between Hale and his wife, in which Jack played the role of "goat."

Jack told the captain that his mother and father separated a few weeks ago and that his father had appropriated the automobile for his own use.

Mrs. Hale refused to accept the short end of the deal and Jack decided to even things up. He took advantage of an opportunity and brought the machine to his mother.

Captain Dempsey, after the argument, did not accept Hale's accusation against his son and refused to hold the boy.

McGraw's Hearing Is Once More Postponed

New York, July 6.—The board of directors of the National league did not take any action during the re-hearing of the McGraw case today and adjourned the session for one week so as to give Manager McGraw of the New York National league club an opportunity to produce two witnesses from Pittsburgh next Friday.

Tener of the National league, were heard in their own behalf at today's session. Manager McGraw, who repudiated the interviews, also gave testimony and said if given an opportunity to do so, he could produce two Pittsburgh men, who were present at the time he is said to have been interviewed by the reporters.

HUDSON TEAM GETS $4,300 IN PRIZES

Carries Off Lion's Share of Money Awarded for Auto Derby at the Omaha Speedway.

All controversies over the award of first place in the third annual Omaha motor derby July 4 to "Smiling" Ralph Mulford, star of the Hudson team, came to end for the time being at least when the prize-winning drivers were "paid off" by the speedway management.

Mulford's victory was protested by the Mercer team, the assertion being made that Joe Thomas, captain of the Mercer crew, won the race and that both Thomas and Walter Haines finished ahead of Mulford.

Following the protest a recheck of the timing tape was made. It is said a recheck of Mulford's time, lap by lap, with every other driver in the race was made and that the recount showed "Smiling" Ralph the victor.

The times of all the laps of Milton, Thomas and Haines also were checked with all the other cars, it was said.

No Mistakes Made.

Convinced that no mistakes were made on the recheck, the promoters made out checks for all the drivers who were in the money.

Arthur Hill, manager of the Hudson team, drew the largest check. The figures on the check given him read $4,300.

Of this sum Mulford won $3,700, $3,000 for winning the 150-mile classic and $700 for finishing second in the fifty-mile race. The remaining $600 was won by Billy Taylor, who was fifth in the 150-mile event.

Twenty-one hundred dollars went to the Duesenberg team. Tommy Milton won $1,900, $1,600 for second place in the 150-mile race and $300 for third place in the fifty. Pete Henderson won $200 in the consolation event.

Dave Lewis grabbed off $1,300, $1,000 for first place in the fifty-mile race and $300 for seventh place in the long grind. Eddie Hearne was given $850 for fourth place in the long race.

The Mercer team's check totaled $1,500. Joe Thomas won $1,000 for third place and Walter Haines $500 for sixth place in the 150-mile race.

A number of the speed demons left Omaha for Minneapolis on a special train on the Northwest.

Louis Chevrolet is promoting a race in the Twin Cities July 14. He took his two cars with him and the Duesenbergs belonging to Hearne, Milton and Henderson, Dave Lewis' Hoskins and the Miller Special were among the cars shipped to the Minnesota point.

The Mercer team is still in Omaha and probably will ship to Chicago, although the shipment may be made to the factory at Trenton, N. J. The Hudson team shipped to Detroit.
